Medical.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgical

INSTITUTE.

 CONSULTATION IN ALL CASES, FREE

 CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED

 IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in trouble to the invariable success that has marked the career of the Institute in the seventeen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge,

SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

That is sapping with its insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

Creditors Taking Preference Cannot Prove Debts until after Choice of Assignee

U. S. District Court, District of Oregon, Aug. 8th 1868.

In the matter of J. J. and M. Walton, involuntary bankrupts—In Bankruptcy.

On July 2 1868 a petition was filed in this court in bankruptcy against J. J. and M. Walton, merchants in Eugene. On July 11 they were, without opposition, duly declared bankrupts.

On August 3d Henry Failing and Allen & Lewis by C. H. Lewis appeared before the Register and offered to prove claims against the estate of the bankrupts—that of A. & L. being $1,982 64 and H. F.'s $2,002 33. Objection being made by the petitioning creditors to the proof of these claims until an assignee had been chosen, the Register has, under section 2, reported the matter to me for decision. Accompanying the Register's statement of the matter is a copy of the schedules and warrant, and the depositions of C. H. Lewis and Henry Failing respectively in proof of the claims above mentioned.

From these, it appears that A. & L. and H. F. are wholesale merchants in Portland and that the Waltons being indebted to them on an account for goods, etc. sold and delivered, they severally induced the bankrupts to confess judgments in their favor for the above mentioned sums. That said judgments were confessed without action on Saturday, June 27, 1868, and that on the Monday following A. & L. and H. F. acting through the same attorney, sued out executions and levied upon the property of the bankrupts including the stock of goods on hand supposed to be worth about $4,000. At the date of the judgments the bankrupts were insolvent—their indebtedness being largely in excess of the value of their assets. So far as the bankrupts are concerned, the confessing of these judgments was an act of bankruptcy. It must be inferred from a comparison between their indebtedness and assets as shown by their schedules, that they were then insolvent. Section 39 of the Act makes a confession of judgment by an insolvent or bankrupt or given in contemplation of bankruptcy or insolvency an act of bankruptcy. To be in a state of insolvency or to contemplate insolvency, is simply for the debtor to be or contemplate being unable to pay his debts as they become payable. A person may be insolvent without having committed an act of bankruptcy—an act for which he may be put into involuntary bankruptcy. [13 How. 150, 167. In Re Black & Secor, Bank. Con't Reporter April 1, 1868.]

After the decree in bankruptcy in this case had passed A. & L. and H. F., through their attorney, directed the Sheriff, holding the executions against the bankrupts, to turn over the personal property levied on, to the messenger, and return the executions to the Clerk's office, which was done. By the law of this State, these judgments were a lien upon the real property of the bankrupts, in the schedule mentioned, in favor of the judgment creditors and they also acquired a lien upon the personal property, by virtue of the levy of the execution thereon. By means of these proceedings these creditors received a preference over the other creditors of the bankrupts. Until the contrary is shown, it must be presumed that this preference was intended to be given by the bankrupts, for the reason that it was the natural and probable consequence of their act—the confessing of judgment to A. & L. and H. F., while in a state of insolvency.

If the creditors had no reason to believe that the bankrupts were insolvent or contemplated insolvency, when they took these judgments and obtained this preference, then their judgments are good, but under section 20, they can only be admitted to prove the balance of their debts after deducting the value of their liens. This involves an arrangement with the assignee, and presupposes the choosing of the assignee before they are allowed to prove their debts.

But, if on the other hand, these creditors had reason to believe that the bankrupts were insolvent or contemplated bankruptcy or insolvency when they took these judgments and obtained this preference, then they are not entitled to vote for an assignee. "No person who has received any preference contrary to the provisions of this act shall vote for or be eligible as assignee." [Sec 19 Bankrupt Act.] And under section 23 they would not be allowed to prove their debts until they surrendered to the assignee all property, etc. or advantage received by them under such preference.

The last clause of section 39 authorizes the assignee to recover back—obtain by judicial proceedings—any property transferred by a bankrupt contrary to the act, if the person receiving the property had reasonable cause to believe that a fraud on the act was intended or that the debtor was insolvent, and such creditor shall not be allowed to prove his debt in bankruptcy.

Taking this section alone and a creditor who has received a preference contrary to the act cannot be allowed to prove his debt at all—in other words he is precluded from recovering any part of the assets of the bankrupt. But I am inclined to the opinion, that section 23 must be considered with section 39, and that a creditor who has received a preference contrary to this act may surrender such preference, voluntarily to the assignee and be allowed to prove his debt and share in the estate. But if such creditor does not voluntarily surrender the property or benefits obtained by such preference, and the assignee is driven to "recover back" the same by judicial proceedings, then I think he is debarred from proving his debt or sharing in the estate.

Under section 23 if the judge entertains doubt of the validity of the claim or the right of the creditor to prove it, and is of opinion that such validity or right ought to be investigated by the assignee he may postpone the proof of the claim until the assignee is chosen.

I have no doubt as to the validity of these claims—that is, I am satisfied that they are genuine,—not fictitious, and justly due by the bankrupts to the creditors. But the right of the creditors to prove them is not so plain a question.

If the creditors received this preference contrary to the provisions of the act then these proceedings as to them were valid and as we have seen they cannot prove their debt but only such part of it as the assignee may ascertain is due after deducting the value of the property held under the lien of their judgments. As this arrangement cannot be made until after the choice of an assignee in the nature of things these creditors must be precluded from voting for an assignee. But if they are now allowed to prove their debts then under section 11 they would be qualified to vote for assignee.

But if this preference was received contrary to the provisions of the act, then under the most favorable view of the law for these creditors they could not be allowed to participate in the election of the assignee and therefore should not be allowed to prove their debts until an assignee was chosen and had an opportunity to investigate the matter and resist the application, if justice to the other creditors requires it.

I do not now propose to decide absolutely the question whether these creditors had reason to believe these bankrupts were insolvent when they took these judgments. A judgment by confession is an effectual means of transferring property from a debtor to a creditor, but I do not think it can be considered as an act done in the ordinary course of the debtor's business. It is therefore presumably fraudulent—that is contrary to the provisions of the act both as to the debtor and the creditor receiving it. The burden of proof is upon the creditor to overcome this presumption. In accordance with these conclusions I will direct the following order to be certified to the Register.

ORDER

Upon reading and consideration of the statement and accompanying papers reported to me by the Register under section 23 of the bankrupt act touching the claims of Allen & Lewis and Henry Failing against the estate of the bankrupt—

It is ordered that the proof of such claims be postponed until an assignee of the estate has been chosen or appointed, and that if the proof of such claims is thereafter objected to, it must be done by a written allegation, and thereupon the Register after notice to the assignee must proceed to take the evidence for and against such objection and report the same to the Court for decision with his findings of facts and law thereon.

A Democratic Endorsement of Grant

A few months ago when the Democrats were themselves looking toward Gen Grant as the only candidate they could select with a possible chance of success the Pittsburg Post, an influential Democratic newspaper in an article under the head, 'The Duty of the Democratic Party in a Certain Event,' said of Gen Grant

"Suppose that contrary to the wish of some of the leading Radical Black Republicans who want the office themselves, Grant should be nominated for the Presidency by the Republican party, what course ought the Democratic party to pursue? Ought we to nominate a man in opposition to General Grant? Ought we to charge him with being an enemy to his country, or in favor of unjust measures, merely because he may have received said nomination? We are inclined to believe that more depends on General Grant now than upon any other individual in the United States. We believe him to be far superior to the majority of the farsighted politicians who have been ruling the country without bringing peace or economy to our legislation. He is known to all the people as a straightforward man, and so far as can be judged, a man well disposed to deal fairly with the people of all sections of the Union. What better thing can we do in case of General Grant's nomination by the Republican party than to vote for him for the Presidency? Our aim should be to strengthen his hands, to render him as much as possible independent of party, and to elect him as the President of the people. If unanimously, why so much the better. We solemnly believe that if the people generally of the United States can come together with real unanimity on General Grant, in regard to the Presidency, it will be the happiest thing for our country that could possibly occur. The future good effects of this course are almost incalculable. We earnestly ask our Democratic friends everywhere to consider this subject carefully."

Some time previous to the Chicago Convention, the New York World and other Democratic papers, gave utterance to similar language. Since the nominations they have, with characteristic Democratic regard for truth, decency and consistency, omitted no opportunity to traduce and belittle General Grant, and we presume the Post is following suit. The World, the Post and the whole pack of Democratic hounds are baying on his track with as much bloodthirstiness as they ever exhibited under the old regime in hunting fugitive negroes, and for no other reason, as we must believe, than that he has received the Republican nomination—a nomination which the Post, a few months ago, proposed to make unanimous. But is there now any less reason than there was a few months ago, for believing that "more depends upon General Grant than upon any other individual in the United States"? Is there any less reason for believing that he is a "straightforward man" and "disposed to deal fairly with the people of all sections of the Union"? The great issues between the Republican and Democratic parties have in no way changed since the Post and World, uttered unequivocal praise of General Grant and certainly the man has not changed. The circumstances of our country are only so changed as to indicate more clearly than ever that Gen Grant of all others is the man to lead the way to peace and unity. The people of the United States desire above all things that there shall be an end, at the earliest practicable moment, of all the vexing troubles thrust upon them by the rebellion and growing out of it. Gen. Grant says, "Let us have peace." Seymour and the Democratic party have said in substance, "Let us have war." The election of Gen. Grant will insure a peaceful settlement of whatever questions of reconstruction remain unsettled. The election of Seymour will settle whatever has been accomplished toward reconstruction and put every thing again upon the status of 1865 when Lee surrendered his sword to Grant. Every [illegible] man must admit that the Pittsburg Post was exactly right, for once, when it said "If the people generally of the United States can come together with real unanimity on General Grant, in regard to the Presidency, it will be the happiest thing for our country that could possibly occur."

The belief that "what the Confederate soldiers fought for would be won by the election of Seymour and Blair" seems to have inspired great enthusiasm among the unreconstructed secessionists. They are about the only ones, however, who feel very enthusiastic over the nominations. The Democratic [illegible] in Louisiana is manifesting itself through the unprovoked murders of Union white men and negroes—the same sort of enthusiasm as was exhibited in the streets of New York when Gov. Seymour's "friends" kicked to death the Irish patriot, Col O'Brien, murdered several hundred peaceable negroes and burned the orphan asylum.

When McClellan was dismissed from the command of the army, the Democrats claimed that he was the idol of the soldiers. Yet, in 1864, when the "idol" ran against Lincoln, he got only 35,050 soldiers' votes while Lincoln received 121,041. Now, the soldiers are asked to choose between Gen Grant, the greatest soldier of the age, and Seymour who used his influence to assist the rebels and thus to prolong the war, and add to the Union [illegible] and sufferings. The proportionate disparity of Union and Democratic soldiers' votes will be as much greater in 1868, as McClellan was less a rebel than Seymour.

The pirate Semmes has made a speech in favor of Seymour and Blair. The confederate leaders, they whose garments were most thoroughly soaked in the blood of Union martyrs—are all for Seymour and Blair. The bloodier the rebel, the more enthusiastic the Democrat. Semmes probably looks for a commission in the navy, and employment on the Southern coast in the work of cleaning out the loyal State Governments.

One of the Democratic party cries used to be, "in favor of the next war." With singular consistency, when the last civil war was begun by the rebels in 1861, Seymour was in favor of it. True to the "eternal principles, both the candidates of the Democracy in 1868 are "in favor of the next war"—the Democratic rebellion promised by Blair.

A Democratic paper says "Seymour and Blair go through the country like wildfire." Not yet but that is the way they propose to go through the loyal people of the South if elected.

It is said that the Republicans are preparing to publish Seymour's speeches as campaign documents. They would certainly be very effective weapons against their author.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE

OAKLAND, Aug. 7, 1868.

THE DAILY STAGE LINE

The facilities for travel afforded by the daily stage line from Portland to [illegible] are a vast improvement upon the old times when we had to go pounding along trails on cayuses, fortunate if we could make forty miles a day. The Oregon traveler is favored now with the jerky gait of the cayuse and may now pass over the principal thoroughfare of the State from the northern to the southern boundary in sixty hours, hardly feeling the tedium of the trip. The stage line is admirably organized and efficiently managed; the roads are as good as they can be, and the company put the mails, express and travelers through in just about the shortest time and best style in which that thing can be done. The State throughout its whole length derives very great advantages from this line. It is about the only means by which anything like a general circulation is kept up among the people of western Oregon.

THE UMPQUA VALLEY

Undoubtedly the time will come when this part of the State will have advantages equal to those possessed by any other, for nature here has done her share and is only waiting for the industry of man to do the rest. Though this valley may appear to be somewhat remotely situated, its isolation is no more complete than portions of Wallamet. A fair degree of activity is observable in several parts of Douglas county. This town (Oakland) is really a thriving place. Great improvements have been made here during the past year and all the people of the town seem to have something to do and to be doing it. Roseburg also wears a healthy look. These places are about equal in size, and there is a contest between them for metropolitan honors. This rivalry is further stimulated by a proposition which is on foot to divide Douglas county. Oakland is in favor of division and Roseburg opposes. The former wants to be the county seat of the new county while the latter fears that in case the division is made, leaving Roseburg near the edge of the county, the seat of government will be transferred to Myrtle Creek or some other place more centrally located than Roseburg. The proposition seems to be to divide the county by the north branch of the Umpqua river to its intersection with the south branch, and from this point follow a line due west to the ocean. The question will be brought before the Legislature at the coming session. It is evident that the county is inconveniently large and that much interest is taken in the matter of dividing it. The friends of division hope to get an act through the Legislature submitting the question to the people to be voted upon.

As there is no great profit in grain growing in Umpqua, the people have of late years devoted their attention pretty largely to the rearing of stock. Cattle, however, are not now numerous, the failure of grazing accounting for the disappearance of the large herds which were once seen here. But there are large numbers of sheep in the valley, and no part of Oregon seems better adapted to rearing them. Experience in this quarter has shown that there is a good profit in sheep husbandry. There are more good horses in this part of the State than formerly,—though the rearing of good horses has never yet received sufficient attention in any part of Oregon. Properly managed, it would be very profitable.

The production of grapes might be successfully carried on in Southern Oregon. In Rogue river valley they are said to ripen well and they may also be grown in Umpqua. In Wallamet it is known that they do not always ripen. But experiments have shown that in the southern part of the State they may be counted on as a sure crop. When industry shall search out all the avenues of employment which may be found in Oregon it is safe to predict that grape growing in this part of the State will not be neglected.

GOLD EXCITEMENT

Much interest is manifested here in the Bohemia mines. There are numbers who think they certainly have "struck it," and there is considerable running to and fro in consequence. There are said to be one hundred men in the mines, and many others are alternately between their homes and the new district. Everybody has "specimens," and there is the usual talk about "feet," "strike," "dip," "wall-rock," etc, etc, with an abundance of scientific disquisitions on the nature, origin, extent and richness of the new quartz field. The assays do certainly show very promising results.

S

HOSPITABLE. Dr Cole of San Francisco, Chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Board of Supervisors, has been getting angry at the newspaper reporters for their remarks concerning the "pest house." It seems the reporters have published items without having sufficient knowledge of the facts, and Dr Cole has hit upon a happy idea for the correction of the evil—an idea which shows that Dr Cole has not only a clear head but a hospitable heart. He says

"I say to the gentlemen of the press whenever they want any points of facts about hospital matters, or when any complaints are made which they deem deserving of comment, I invite them in all the fullness of my heart to come to me. I invite them one and all—those who are here whom I have not spoken to, and those with whom I have talked on the matter—to visit the Post House, and I will go with them."

Notwithstanding the gushing and friendly terms in which the hospitalities of the pest house are thus tendered the reporters, it is not yet recorded that any of them have accepted.

A Texas paper says that none of the late murders in that state have been political. We suppose that the Ku Kluxes would say the same thing. The stretching of a few hundred necks, the blowing out of a few hundred brains, and the roasting of a few hundred bodies, have only been perpetrated in the interests of a white man's government to "improve the moral tone of the community and to secure the uninterrupted reign of peace and brotherly good will." That's all.

Since the nomination of Seymour the Democrats are more anxious than ever to drop the war record, to "let by gones be by gones." The trouble is, Seymour's war record is so damnable that they don't like to have it aired. Never mind, the people will next November blot out Seymour, and then his record will be of little consequence.

August Belmont, the Democratic [illegible] bondholder, has become alarmed at the repudiation construction put upon the Democratic platform by the Pendleton men of the West, and it is reported that he has become very lukewarm in his support of Seymour.

It is said Gov. Seymour's physician advises him to visit Europe during the Presidential campaign. Should Seymour conclude to go he might make his tour of indefinite length, as there will be nothing in the public affairs of this country to demand his return.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The Pacific Mail Co.'s new steamer [illegible] sailed for Aspinwall to-day with a full complement of passengers, including 270 soldiers for the 1st regiment of cavalry. Her freight amounts to over sixteen hundred tons, three hundred of which is taken at [illegible]

The President of the Bricklayers' Union has refused to assent to the compromise with the master masons. The strike therefore continues, though most of the journeymen are at work on their own terms.

ST PAUL, Minn., Aug 8.—The trial of [illegible] for the murder of Dr Harcourt in 1866 resulted in a verdict of not guilty.

Robberies in Missouri

ST LOUIS, Aug 8.—There seems to be an organized band of robbers in the western part of the State. A stage between Butler and Harrisonville was stopped by three armed men last Tuesday and the passengers robbed of several hundred dollars. Several other similar outrages have occurred in that vicinity.

NEW YORK, Aug 8.—Mrs Commodore Vanderbilt has been struck by paralysis.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE

LONDON, Aug 8.—Late telegrams from Shanghai bring the following: A French trading station near the frontier line of Cochin China was attacked on the 18th of June by a band of Anam rebels. The post contained twenty four men all told, who made a gallant resistance, but after a desperate fight, were overpowered, captured and massacred. A strong French force was subsequently sent against the band and on the 21st of June after a desperate fight, the French succeeded in recapturing the prisoners and dispersing the rebels.

Foreign News by Mail

NEW YORK, Aug 8.—European mail advices of the 25th of July are received. Paris gossip states that in September the Emperor will publish two manifestoes. One will be a letter to the Minister of Foreign Affairs vindicating the foreign policy of the Emperor. The other will be a proclamation to the French people, appealing to them for a renewal of confidence in the dynasty of Napoleon.

The New York World having called upon the Tribune to answer "When, and where, or how, are all men equal?" the latter paper responds, quoting from the Old and New Testaments and the Declaration of Independence. The Buffalo Commercial copies, and adds "The above is all well enough in its way, but the Tribune forgets that the authorities which it cites are not recognized as true political gospel by the Democrats."

The New York Commonwealth is getting up a Life of Seymour. It furnishes the following chapter as an "advance sheet."

"CHAPTER XII

Services of Governor Horatio Seymour in behalf of his country during the rebellion

"Mr Seymour was of no service to his country during the rebellion."

At the rebel meeting in Richmond on Saturday evening, to express their delight at the nomination of Seymour and Blair, General Wise asked Governor Vance what construction was put upon the Amnesty Proclamation in the Convention at New York. Governor Vance replied that that question was not mooted in the Convention. Many thought the President had not gone far enough but should have included Jefferson Davis.

In the old days of the patriarchal institutions it was observed as a curious fact, that slave negroes did not smell—it was only the free ones. Nasby has now discovered, since the Democracy have taken to cultivating the colored vote that "Democratic niggers are inodorous."

The Washington correspondent of the Chicago Tribune says Hon R J Walker is disgusted at the New York nominations and declares he will not support them. He sent over a printed draft of a platform, which was ignored to an extent indicated by the above statement.

The Poisons of the Day.—The late temperance investigations in Massachusetts have thrown a flood of light on the horrible abuses of the liquor trade, and have at the same time demonstrated the absolute necessity for a pure and safe diffusive stimulant for medicinal purposes. Clergymen of the highest standing, men of the highest rank in science, in fact all the parties who are above the reach of prejudice, have testified not only to the pernicious effects of the adulterated liquors of commerce, but also to the efficacy of one unadulterated tonic [illegible] as a remedial and restorative agent.

First on the list of those so [illegible] stands the best known and [illegible] of all the stomachics of the day, that is HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This specific is the only representative of that absolutely pure article which eminent divines, chemists, physicians and distinguished [illegible] in New England have just declared not to be an appropriate subject for prohibitory legislation. The faculty proclaims by the mouths of its professors that a stimulant [illegible] is absolutely necessary. HOSTETTER'S BITTERS satisfies all the requirements of [illegible] It is free from the irritating constituents [illegible] and the [illegible] extracts with which it is [illegible] the best and restoratives that botanical science [illegible] world wide research has yet [illegible] It is an [illegible] fact that some constitutions and habits of body [illegible] and stimulation, and for all such a stimulus [illegible] ought [illegible] and slightly aperient properties with its tonic virtues is manifestly desirable.

Sewing Machines at the Paris Exposition.—It is a remarkable fact in the history of the Exhibition that the successful exhibitors of Sewing Machines in this department have received the two gold medals [illegible] [illegible] to the recipients of the two gold medals, and they equally advertise that they hold the gold medal, thus contradicting each other, while all the other exhibitors [illegible] that no gold medal was awarded for any Sewing Machine whatever. Happily [illegible] the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine have received the very highest prize above all medals, their representative in Paris having been decorated by the Emperor with the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

We find the above in one of our English exchanges and transfer it to our columns with satisfaction. It is gratifying to find that the Grover & Baker Machine which stands so high at home should also receive the highest honors abroad. When it is remembered that one thousand Gold Medals were awarded at the Exposition, while only one hundred and fifty [illegible] were given, it will be seen that the Cross of the Legion of Honor was a far higher award of merit than the Gold Medal. Not that Sewing Machines at the Exposition received this distinction, showing that of the [illegible] His Imperial Majesty and the judges [illegible] was equally deserving. This award places the Grover & Baker Machine first at the head of the catalogue of the Exposition, as it is first in the estimation of the public and the [illegible] Atlantic. A Democratic Endorsement of Grant

A few months ago when the Democrats were themselves looking toward Gen. Grant as the only candidate they could select with a possible chance of success, the Pittsburg Post, an influential Democratic newspaper, in an article under the head, "The Duty of the Democratic Party in a Certain Event," said of Gen. Grant:

"Suppose that contrary to the wish of some of the leading Radical Black Republicans, who want the office themselves, Grant should be nominated for the Presidency by the Republican party, what course ought the Democratic party to pursue? Ought we to nominate a man in opposition to General Grant? Ought we to charge him with being an enemy to his country, or in favor of unjust measures, merely because he may have received said nomination? We are inclined to believe that more depends on General Grant now than upon any other individual in the United States. We believe him to be far superior to the majority of the farsighted politicians who have been ruling the country without bringing peace or economy to our legislation. He is known to all the people as a straightforward man, and so far as can be judged, a man well disposed to deal fairly with the people of all sections of the Union. What better thing can we do in case of General Grant's nomination by the Republican party than to vote for him for the Presidency? Our aim should be to strengthen his hands, to render him as much as possible independent of party, and to elect him as the President of the people. If unanimously, why so much the better. We solemnly believe that if the people generally of the United States can come together with real unanimity on General Grant, in regard to the Presidency, it will be the happiest thing for our country that could possibly occur. The future good effects of this course are almost incalculable. We earnestly ask our Democratic friends everywhere to consider this subject carefully."

Some time previous to the Chicago Convention, the New York World and other Democratic papers, gave utterance to similar language. Since the nominations they have with characteristic Democratic regard for truth, decency and consistency, omitted no opportunity to traduce and belittle General Grant, and we presume the Post is following suit. The World, the Post and the whole pack of Democratic hounds are baying on his track with as much bloodthirstiness as they ever exhibited under the old regime in hunting fugitive negroes, and for no other reason, as we must believe, than that he has received the Republican nomination—a nomination which the Post, a few months ago, proposed to make unanimous. But is there now any less reason than there was a few months ago, for believing that "more depends upon General Grant than upon any other individual in the United States"? Is there any less reason for believing that he is a "straightforward man" and "disposed to deal fairly with the people of all sections of the Union?" The great issues between the Republican and Democratic parties have in no way changed since the Post and World, uttered unequivocal praises of General Grant and certainly the man has not changed. The circumstances of our country are only so changed as to indicate more clearly than ever that Gen. Grant of all others is the man to lead the country to peace and unity. The people of the United States desire above all things that there shall be an end, at the earliest practicable moment, of all the vexing troubles thrust upon them by the rebellion and growing out of it. Gen. Grant says, "Let us have peace." Seymour and the Democratic party have said in substance, "Let us have war." The election of Gen. Grant will insure a peaceful settlement of whatever questions of reconstruction remain unsettled. The election of Seymour will unsettle whatever has been accomplished toward reconstruction and put everything back again upon the status of 1865 when Lee surrendered his sword to Grant. Every reflecting man must admit that the Pittsburg Post was exactly right, for once, when it said "If the people generally of the United States can come together with real unanimity on General Grant, in regard to the Presidency, it will be the happiest thing for our country that could possibly occur."

The belief that "what the Confederate soldiers fought for would be won by the election of Seymour and Blair" seems to have inspired great enthusiasm among the unreconstructed secessionists. They are about the only class, however, who feel very enthusiastic over the nominations. The Democratic enthusiasm in Louisiana is manifesting itself through the unprovoked murders of Union white men and negroes—the same sort of enthusiasm as was exhibited in the streets of New York when Gov. Seymour's "friends" kicked to death the Irish patriot, Col. O'Brien, murdered several hundred peaceable negroes and burned the orphan asylum.

When McClellan was dismissed from the command of the army, the Democrats claimed that he was the idol of the soldiers. Yet in 1864, when the "Idol" ran against Lincoln, he got only 35,050 soldiers' votes while Lincoln received 121,041. Now, the soldiers are asked to choose between Gen. Grant, the greatest soldier of the age and Seymour, who used his influence to assist the rebels and thus to prolong the war and add to the Union losses and sufferings. The proportionate disparity of Union and Democratic soldiers' votes will be as much greater in 1868, as McClellan was less a rebel than Seymour.

The pirate Semmes has made a speech in favor of Seymour and Blair. The confederate leaders—they whose garments were most thoroughly soaked in the blood of Union martyrs—are all for Seymour and Blair. The bloodier the rebel, the more enthusiastic the Democrat. Semmes probably looks for a commission in the navy and employment on the Southern coast in the work of cleaning out the loyal State Governments.

One of the Democratic party cries used to be, "in favor of the next war." With singular consistency, when the last civil war was begun by the rebels in 1861, Seymour was in favor of it. True to the eternal principles both the candidates of the Democracy in 1868 are "in favor of the next war"—the Democratic rebellion promised by Blair.

A Democratic paper says: "Seymour and Blair go through the country like wildfire." Not yet, but that is the way they propose to go through the loyal people of the South, if elected.

It is said that the Republicans are preparing to publish Seymour's speeches as campaign documents. They would certainly be very effective weapons against their author.

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE

OAKLAND, Aug. [illegible], 1868.

THE [illegible]

[illegible] stage [illegible] improvement upon the old time when we had to go plodding along trails on cayuses fortunate if we could make forty miles a day. [illegible] in sixty hours hardly looking the [illegible] the trip. The stages [illegible] efficiently managed [illegible] good as they can be, and the company put the mails, express and travelers through in just about the shortest time and best style in which that thing can be done. The State throughout its whole length [illegible] great advantages from this line. It is [illegible] the only means by which anything like [illegible] and circulation is kept up among the people of western Oregon.

THE UMPQUA VALLEY.

Undoubtedly the time will come when this part of the State will have advantages equal to those possessed by any other. Nature here has done her share and is only waiting for the industry of man to do the rest. Though this valley may appear to be somewhat remote [illegible] situated, its isolation is [illegible] complete than portions of Wallamet. A fair degree of activity is observable in several parts of Douglas county. This town (Oakland) is really a thriving place. Great improvements have been made here during the past year, and all the people of the town seem to have something to do and to be doing it. Roseburg also wears a healthy look. These places are about equal in size, and there is a contest between them for metropolitan honors. This rivalry is further stimulated by a proposition which is on foot to divide Douglas county. Oakland is in favor of division and Roseburg opposes. The former wants to be the county seat of the new county while the latter fears that in case the division is made, leaving Roseburg near the edge of the county, the seat of government will be transferred to Myrtle Creek or some other place more centrally located than Roseburg. The proposition seems to be to divide the county by the north branch of the Umpqua river to its intersection with the south branch and from this point follow a line due west to the ocean. The question will be brought before the Legislature at the coming session. It is evident that the county is inconveniently large and that much interest is taken in the matter of dividing it. The friends of division hope to get an act through the Legislature submitting the question to the people to be voted upon.

As there is no great profit in grain growing in Umpqua, the people have of late years devoted their attention pretty largely to the rearing of stock. Cattle, however, are not now numerous, the failure of grazing accounting for the disappearance of the large herds which were once seen here. But there are large numbers of sheep in the valley and no part of Oregon seems better adapted to rearing them. Experience in this quarter has shown that there is a good profit in sheep husbandry. There are more good horses in this part of the State than formerly—though the rearing of good horses has never yet received sufficient attention in any part of Oregon. Properly managed, it would be very profitable.

The production of grapes might be successfully carried on in Southern Oregon. In Rogue river valley they are said to ripen well and they may also be grown in Umpqua. In Wallamet it is known that they do not always ripen. But experiments have shown that in the southern part of the State they may be counted on as a sure crop. When industry shall search out all the avenues of employment which may be found in Oregon it is safe to predict that grape growing in this part of the State will not be neglected.

GOLD EXCITEMENT.

Much interest is manifested here in the Bohemia mines. There are numbers who think they certainly have "struck it," and there is considerable running to and fro in consequence. There are said to be one hundred men in the mines, and many others are alternately between their homes and the new district. Everybody has specimens and there is the usual talk about "feet," "strike," "dip," "wall rock," etc., etc., with an abundance of scientific disquisitions on the nature, origin, extent and richness of the new quartz field. The assays do certainly show very promising results.

S.

HOSPITABLE.—Dr. Cole of San Francisco, Chairman of the Hospital Committee of the Board of Supervisors, has been getting angry at the newspaper reporters for their remarks concerning the "pest house." It seems the reporters have published items without having sufficient knowledge of the facts and Dr. Cole has hit upon a happy idea for the correction of the evil—an idea which shows that Dr. Cole has not only a clear head but a hospitable heart. He says:

"I say to the gentlemen of the press whenever they want any points of facts about hospital matters, or when any complaints are made which they deem deserving of comment, I invite them in all the fullness of my heart to come to me. I invite them one and all—those who are here whom I have not spoken to, and those with whom I have talked on the matter—to visit the Pest House and I will go with them."

Notwithstanding the gushing and friendly terms in which the hospitalities of the pest house are thus tendered the reporters, it is not yet recorded that any of them have accepted.

A Texas paper says that none of the late murders in that state have been political. We suppose that the Ku Klux would say the same thing. The stretching of a few hundred necks, the blowing out of a few hundred brains and the roasting of a few hundred bodies, have only been perpetrated in the interests of a "white man's government," to improve the moral tone of the community and to secure the uninterrupted reign of peace and brotherly good will. That's all!

Since the nomination of Seymour the Democrats are more anxious than ever to bring the war record to "let by-gones be by-gones." The trouble is Seymour's war record is so damnable that they don't like to have it named. Never mind, the people will next November blot out Seymour, and then his record will be of little consequence.

August Belmont, the Democratic [illegible] bondholder, has become alarmed at the repudiation construction put upon the Democratic platform by the Pendleton men of the West, and it is reported that he has become very lukewarm in his support of Seymour.

It is said Gov. Seymour's physician advises him to visit Europe during the Presidential campaign. Should Seymour conclude to go he might make his tour of indefinite length, as there will be nothing in the political affairs of this country to demand his return.

HEALTH [illegible].—The [illegible] healthfulness which has hitherto [illegible] our city [illegible] the future [illegible] sanitary regulations [illegible]. [illegible] though they have [illegible] to the laws of health no matter how [illegible] the climate, [illegible] how salubrious the breezes that fan our city we cannot expect to be free from the [illegible] of these laws. The site of Portland is certainly one which affords every facility for its being kept healthy as well as beautiful [illegible] the west all that is calculated to generate malaria may be carried off by drainage without very great expense. The present system of sewerage is deficient in [illegible] as well as in construction [illegible] amount of filth [illegible] off by effective means, it is found to breed disease. By means of our sewers all the [illegible] at low water mark of the river so that it would be washed entirely away. Instead of this much is not drained by sewers at all and a great portion of that which is is left under the wharves on the [illegible]. The city has at least 4,000 feet of wharf under which we [illegible] filth is deposited by the sewers and is left by the receding waters [illegible] our people [illegible] by those who [illegible] are in the habit of breathing it [illegible] impregnated atmosphere [illegible] the adjacent parts of our city, but let a person go into the country for a short time and he will notice it very readily on his return. We have called attention to this matter somewhat at length, for the reason that it is bound to affect the health of the city to a serious extent unless the matter is taken in hand by the [illegible] having the [illegible] ity, and measures are introduced to remedy it.

CIRCUIT COURT.—UPTON, J.—On Saturday last the following proceedings were had in the Circuit Court:

First National Bank vs. J. B. Wallace and L. [illegible]; judgment by default for plaintiff for $700 and costs.

Luther vs. William M. King; [illegible] dismissed on motion of plaintiff without prejudice.

Martha E. Scott vs. E. R. Scott; referred to W. W. Caldwell to take proofs.

Methodist Episcopal Church vs. D. F. Smith et al; referred to W. W. Caldwell to take proofs and determine the [illegible] creditors.

Hampton Kelly vs. State of Oregon, Michael Dal[illegible] vs. City of Portland, B. K. [illegible] vs. C. K. Edwards; [illegible] issued in each case, returnable at chambers August 13, 1868.

A. B. Richardson vs. J. H. Mitchell et al; [illegible] defendant [illegible].

Levi Anderson vs. S. J. Mc[illegible] et al; [illegible] executed [illegible] to plaintiff.

The docket [illegible] being disposed of, the court adjourned with [illegible] day.

DULL TIMES.—Notwithstanding there are some few merchants who complain of dull times [illegible] for the past week has usually worn quite a lively appearance. Though the trade with the interior is perhaps [illegible] as at other seasons of the year owing to the [illegible], yet our dealers are generally kept busy. The country east of the mountains which is mainly supplied through this city is increasing in its commercial importance, and the demand for goods up the Columbia river, we think, is full as great as ordinarily at this season of the year. On last Saturday one of our hardware firms, E. J. Northrup & Co., sold twenty five tons of merchandise for shipment. They are engaged [illegible] thirty five tons of iron to Umatilla. Such large sales, it is true, are not an every day occurrence, but the steady activity which characterizes the trade of Portland gives assurance of her important future as the [illegible] of the Pacific coast. Inevitably dull times will [illegible] be our lot but they do not and cannot materially retard or check the growth of our city.

A RUNAWAY.—Yesterday afternoon about two o'clock a team came dashing down the country road south of the city, at a furious rate. It was composed of two horses attached to the fore wheels of a wagon, the hind wheels having become disconnected and left in the road. When near the new saw mill of Hayden & Co. the horses [illegible] toward Front street, and as they rounded the [illegible] which is the No. 1 stable, an old gentleman [illegible] rushed into the street before them and [illegible] to check them, but in spite of his efforts they kept right ahead, and before he could get out of their way, they ran over and knocked him to the ground. The [illegible] over his body, cutting a gash on his face and otherwise severely injuring him. The team kept down Front street for some distance before it could be [illegible]. Dr. Chapman was called upon to attend the injured man.

A[illegible] TO MR. FRAZER.—By a letter dated August 6th, to Mr. A. H. Morgan of this city we learn that on [illegible] inst. Thos. Frazer, Esq., who went to Clatsop [illegible] some two or three weeks ago, accompanied by his wife, while riding from Cape Disappointment to Shoalwater Bay, was thrown from his horse and severely injured. It appears that Mr. Frazer caught and held to the horse's bridle as he fell. The horse in struggling [illegible] him with his fore feet and afterwards fell [illegible]. Mr. F. was taken in a wagon to Brisco's [illegible] miles distant from the scene of the accident, and the surgeon at Fort Disappointment sent for. The [illegible] one of Mr. F.'s ribs broken and his side badly [illegible]. When the letter from which our information [illegible] was written, he was suffering severely and his [illegible] says it will be ten days at least before he will be able to return home.

PORTLAND VS. VICTORIA.—The Victoria Colonist says that a firm at Koot[illegible] lately received a large cargo of [illegible]dise from Portland, and that paper regrets that the trail from Victoria was in such a condition that it would not pay to carry the goods from that place, and [illegible] merchants, hotel keepers, etc., lost their share [illegible] the purchase of these goods would have distributed in Victoria instead of Portland. We presume that as long as the traders of Kootenai find it cheaper buying at Portland and shipping direct from here than at Victoria they will not feel under any peculiar obligation to purchase at the latter place in order to afford any class of the Victorians a distributive portion of the profits.

UP THE VALLEY.—From exchanges up the valley we learn the following: Stickney's circus is coming through from California, exhibiting in the several towns. The editor of the Corvallis Gazette is the happy father of a [illegible]-eyed baby. On Sunday, the 2d inst. the [illegible] rose to 100° at Albany, 100° at Eugene City and 110° at Jacksonville, in the shade. The Willamette is at a very low stage, but the P. T. Co. still manage to run their boats as far as Corvallis. The people [illegible] are preparing extensively for the large numbers [illegible] to visit that place during the coming season of [illegible] and the State Fair.

[illegible].—A lady passing up Taylor street, accompanied by two small children, was badly frightened by a [illegible] cow, which ran at her in a very threatening manner, and came near inflicting serious injury upon the lady. But for the timely interference of men who were near the spot, the lady doubtless would have been badly hurt. We have been requested to call attention to the number of cattle which are permitted to run at large upon our streets to the great annoyance of those who pass along, and in some instances, to the considerable loss of those who have undertaken to ornament their [illegible] with trees and shrubbery.

[illegible].—From the Lewiston Journal we learn that Mr. W. Mulkey left that place on the last stage for Boise to get his brother, Henry Mulkey, who has become insane, and to bring him to Portland for medical treatment. Mr. H. Mulkey is well known throughout Oregon and Washington and Idaho Territories. His mother, Mrs. Pod[illegible], will soon leave for Portland to take care of her son during his illness.

[illegible].—Smith, not John but Peg leg Smith was fined [illegible] and costs of action by His H[illegible] not Judge H[illegible], on [illegible]day. Smith has been in the habit, we are informed, of occasionally visiting his family who reside [illegible] street, and have a rather bad reputation for good order. When Smith is away, and where he goes [illegible], there is sure to be a row. His dismal [illegible] seems to be most enjoyed away from home.

SOON TO ARRIVE.—The large and splendid piano lately purchased at the East by the Portland Philharmonic Society, will arrive on the next steamer from San Francisco. This instrument is said to be one of the largest and finest pianos on the Pacific coast and its purchase is [illegible] of the taste and enterprise of our talented musical society.

FROM CHINA.—The Jennie Alice, which some time since, was announced to have sailed from Hong Kong, China for this port direct, was reported to be off the bar at the time the Couch left Astoria on last Saturday. Her freight and passengers are consigned to a Chinese firm in Portland. She brings five hundred Chinese. We shall probably not publish her passenger list.

NEW FENCE.—The old fence around the Sisters of Charity's block is being torn away and a very neat new one erected in its place. Extensive improvements have been made to the building during the summer, and it has become one of the finest and most ornamental buildings in our city.

[illegible].—We learn that Rev. [illegible] Dearloff has declined the professorship to which he was lately elected in the Wallamet University, and that he intends taking position as principal of the Umpqua Academy at Wilbur in Douglas county.

OREGON PRODUCE.—The [illegible] from Oregon City on Saturday with the following freight: [illegible] sacks bacon, 22 half barrels butter, [illegible] apples, [illegible] boxes eggs, 5 bales, [illegible] case [illegible].

CHANGE OF TIME.—Hereafter the steamer [illegible] will leave her wharf in this city at half past six in the morning, instead of the afternoon as heretofore.

How often do you hear the complaint from mother and father that their son or daughter is not well; that they have no appetite; that they feel languid; that their head aches; that they are growing thin and feeble; and that they have no life or energy left. That they are low spirited and perfectly incapacitated to partake in any pleasures or perform any mental or physical duty. And the question is asked what shall I do for them? Our answer is let them try PLANTATION BITTERS moderately three times a day and our word for it they will recover.

WALTHAM WATCHES AND AYER'S PILLS [illegible] the highest specimens of American [illegible] of their kind—one in mechanics and the other in medicine. With a Waltham watch in one pocket and a box of Ayer's Pills in the other, you [illegible] your work [illegible] with the health [illegible].

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water. Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels, Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant, but it is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this Tonic and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive [illegible].

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive and from both sexes.

A [illegible] HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before [illegible] cases of Constitutional Weakness, [illegible] Debility and Decrepitude [illegible] the electric influence [illegible] diseases it operates [illegible]. Three Times Three

JOHN HOLLAND IN THE "IRISH REPUBLIC"

Come all you great Grantonian boys
And join your hands with me
And we will make a thundering noise
At shouting three times three
Let others shine at nine times nine
But our sincerity
Shall be expressed on Freedom's breast
By shouting three times three
The ancient Gods, 'gainst all the odds
That swept o'er land or sea
Sent Greece to fight by muses bright
Who numbered three times three

Come out each glorious son of Mars
For Union and the Green,
And never prove beneath your scars
A paltry go-between
No Southern guns nor slavery's sons
Could sweep you from the scene;
Then never disgrace your glorious race
By being a go between
Then shout for Grant, and raise your chant
For Freedom and the free
And make the spheres through endless years
Resound your three times three

The champions of the Union cause
Shall never stoop so low
Nor violate the conqueror's laws
By truckling to the foe.
The man who struck Secession down
From Vicksburg to the sea
And raised the Stars o'er Southern Bars,
We hail with three times three
So sink or swim, we charge with him
Like waves of ocean green,
While cowards who stand upon the strand
May simply go-between

The Beauties of Amnesty in Tennessee

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF A SCHOOL TEACHER —COLORED MEN BEATEN—A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY.

[From the Memphis Post, July 11.]

Mr. Holly, a native Tennesseean and a brave Union soldier, has been teaching for some time a colored school at Pocahontas, Hardeman county Mr. Holly attended strictly to his own business and interfered with no one The colored people had planned a barbecue for the school upon the Fourth of July. This becoming known to the rebel traitors of that vicinity, known as Democrats and the supporters of Seymour, they put on their masks, their tall, paper hats, mounted and armed themselves, and on the night of the 3d of July called at the house of Mr Holly to put him out of the way.

He had taught niggers to read and spell, a most [illegible] performance, and had capped the climax by [illegible] to lead them in the celebration of the Fourth of July in Yankee style Can a Yankee [illegible] dare to commit these monstrous crimes in the [illegible] century in Tennessee and live? [illegible] for this great criminal, he heard the tramp of the horses, and, suspecting that anything was up, stepped out the back way The high-toned [illegible] looked through the house, but not finding the game, left him the following genteel card:

HIDDEN RECESS,
UNTERRIFIED'S RETREAT,
K[illegible] OF VENGEANCE, ETERNITY
"William Holly:
"Villain away!!!

"Ere another moon wanes, unless thou art gone from the [illegible] thy foul form desecrates, thy un[illegible] soul will be revelling in the hell thy acts [illegible] but for this— William, eat heartily and make glad thy vile carcass, for verily the 'Pale Riders' will help on thy digestion You and your friends will sleep an unwaking sleep if you do. Dare you not?

"The Sur[illegible] has hissed the last time!!
"Beware!!! K K K"

Mr. Holly, [illegible] to danger, was not to be [illegible] by any "beware" and five exclamation points The colored population gathured with their baskets of good things at the school house, about 12 o'clock on the Fourth, as had [illegible] The procession of the colored [illegible] in their holiday attire, was formed The last of it was just leaving the yard when two cowardly [illegible] of Gen[illegible] Forrest's Democratic [illegible] up and fired at Mr. Holly. The latter [illegible] one fell to the ground and the other fled. Holly fired [illegible] shots at the villain, who [illegible] out of [illegible] on the ground, and [illegible] attempting to capture the [illegible] were [illegible] Nelson, ticket agent at [illegible] and other white man [illegible] Nelson, [illegible] him to [illegible]. Nelson, if report [illegible] for hurting colored people in [illegible] and Democratic manner. The [illegible] of the Freedmen's Bureau inform us that [illegible] of his having nearly beaten to [illegible] Oliver Prince, early in January.

The colored people dismayed at the attempted assassination, gave up the picnic and scattered to [illegible] and the Democracy triumphed. The [illegible] men escorted Holly across the river into [illegible] county, where he soon found some of [illegible] old regiment and was safe. Here, again, the Democracy triumphed. Subsequently the [illegible] that a colored man named Aaron [illegible] had assisted Holly to escape, and on [illegible] they set upon and beat him [illegible] cruelly. This was a truly magnificent Democratic victory.

In [illegible] the affair, they [illegible] to kill [illegible] on sight, and the latter left [illegible], was Democratic glory enough for [illegible].

[illegible] OF THE SIA[illegible] TWINS—THE OPERA[illegible] IN PARIS.—The Brooklyn [illegible] of July 3d says: After living together three-[illegible] Twins have resolved to [illegible] than that of [illegible] and Eng has been known among men During [illegible] the sympathies of the brothers have [illegible] the frequently [illegible] and [illegible] of affection has been absolute-[illegible] one could not live apart from the other. [illegible] or rather plural — attachment is [illegible], and probably no sundering of [illegible] was ever [illegible] with so wide-spread [illegible] will be. When [illegible] of different [illegible] to be divorced they go to Chicago. [illegible] Eng, [illegible] of the same sex, will go to [illegible] be relieved, of company [illegible] of which [illegible] weary. Years ago distinguished [illegible] French surgeons who examined the [illegible] in opinion as to the [illegible] of an operation destined to make [illegible] The doubt [illegible] twins hesitate [illegible] age of 50, owing to apprehension [illegible] contracted by one may be communicat-[illegible], they are anxious to get rid of one [illegible] and Eng married sisters, and [illegible] children. It is not im[illegible] to avert possible danger to one may [illegible] fatally to both The surgical ex-[illegible] will soon be made.

W[illegible] OUT BUTTERMILK.—In opinion there is [illegible] among butter makers in regard to [illegible] out the buttermilk We are strongly in [illegible] that [illegible] will keep better that is properly [illegible]. It is the caseous or cheese particles in the buttermilk the decomposition of which causes the butter to become frowsy or rancid The more perfectly these are expelled, the better will the butter be preserved sweet and sound Washing properly to our mind, secures best that result. It is certainly [illegible] less work to get rid of the buttermilk by washing, than by the "kneading [illegible];" besides, there is less danger of spoiling the butter by over-working since overworking hurts the grain ren[illegible] the butter salvy It is claimed by some that [illegible] the buttermilk is worked out without washing, a more delicate aroma is retained, and this [illegible] is observed in Holstein and Normandy where a very superior butter is manufactured for the London market.

We have tested hundreds of samples of butter in London which came from France and Holstein The butter is very lightly salted, and when fresh has a most delicious flavor, but much of it does not keep well

T[illegible] OF THE SMALL-POX —A prominent physician yesterday related to us the following incident relative to the terror which the small pox causes among certain persons. He was summoned several days ago to attend a merchant of this city who had been taken sick On arriving at the residence of the sick man, he found the family consisting of the wife, two children, mother in law, brother and two servants, sitting down to dinner He entered the room where the sick man was lying in bed, and immediately discovered that he was suffering from an attack of the small pox He announced the fact to the family while they were yet at the table and if a bomb shell had been exploded amongst them there would not have been greater confusion Within fifteen minutes from the time the announcement was made, every one of them had left the house, leaving the unfortunate sufferer alone without any one to look after or care for him The physician had the sick man conveyed to the Pest House where he now lies wondering why his family forgot him in his great trial S F Call

Ladies in Prussia understand how to manage fairs so as to bring in the money For example at a fare held in Berlin not long ago a young lady by her witty and piquant words managed to dispose of her stock of goods at enormous prices and quite fascinated an old gentleman who asked her,

"Tell me if you sell kisses too?"

"Of course" replied the young lady

"What is the price of your kisses?"

"A hundred dollars apiece cash in advance

"Here are the hundred dollars," said the aged adorer of the lady

But instead of the kiss he expected he saw to his great dismay that the young lady kissed her little white hands with her charming lips to him amidst the loud cheers of the by-standers and then took the hundred dollars as coolly as if she had sold something at a very low pri[illegible]

LORD LYONS ON HORATIO SEYMOUR The English Blue Book contains a letter to the Palmerston Cabinet from Lord Lyons in which the latter gives some details [illegible] interviews [illegible] with the Democratic leaders at New York in November 1862 He says he found them exulting in the "crowning success achieved by them in the State in the election of Mr Seymour as Governor but within a day or two they were sorely disheartened at [illegible] He then speaks as follows of the real purposes of these men whose chief representative in the nation was Horatio Seymour

Several of the leaders of the Democrat party sought interviews with me both before and after the arrival of the intelligence of General McClellan's dismissal The subject uppermost in their minds while they were speaking to me was naturally that of foreign mediation between the North and the South Many of them seemed to think that this mediation must come at last but they appeared to be very much afraid of its coming too soon It was evident that they apprehended that a premature proposal of foreign intervention would afford the Radical party a means of reviving the violent war spirit and of thus defeating the peaceful plans of the Conservatives They appeared to regard the present moment as peculiarly unfavorable for such an offer and indeed, to hold that it would be essential to the success of any proposal from abroad that it should be deferred until the control of the Executive Government should be in the hands of the Conservative party

"I gave no opinion on the subject I did not say whether or no I myself thought foreign intervention probable or advisable but I listened with attention to the accounts given me of the plans and hopes of the Conservative party At the bottom I thought I perceived a desire to put an end to the war, even at the risk of losing the Southern States altogether, but it was plain that it was not thought prudent to avow this desire Indeed, some hints of it dropped before the elections were so ill received that a strong declaration to the contrary sense was deemed necessary by the Democratic leaders"

A MISERLY fellow in Brussels gave a large dinner recently Just as the guests sat down a piercing shriek was heard in the court yard The host hurried out, and returned pale, affrighted and his hands covered with blood

"What is it?" was the inquiry

"Alas!" he said, "a poor workman father of a large family, has met with a terrible accident He was knocked down by a cart and grievously hurt Let us aid him"

A collection was made and the guests contributed some few hundred francs Poor dupes It was the miser's ruse to make them pay for their dinner

These terse rules are worth remembering Pay your debts as soon as you can get any money in your pocket. Do without what you don't need Speak your mind when necessary, hold your tongue when prudent. Cut any acquaintance who slack principle, [illegible] with infirmities, but not vice Respect [illegible]; despise duplicity Wear old clothes until you are able to pay for new ones Aim at comfort and propriety, not fashion Acknowledge your ignorance, and don't pretend to [illegible] haven't got Entertain your friends, but never beyond your means

It [illegible] proved at the trial of a pickpocket who [illegible] as Lamb, that his real name was Beck [illegible] remarked, "That proves the truth of the [illegible] that, "If you give a man an inch he will take an L."

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots uneasiness about the loins weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances a disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath coughs consumption night sweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks

MARRIED MEN,

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who with bogus sworn to certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tin serers and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths shoemakers newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers, etc Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it but you will find their former occupation in it Look at the Directory for 186[illegible] and 1863 The only way to avoid imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians, in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles certificates pretended patient's letters etc Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure

PORTLAND OREGON, July 14, 1868.

P D MOORE, Esq SIR—

The undersigned having witnessed the exhibition in this city yesterday of your Extinguisher or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine would state that the first experiment of a fire kindled outside of the building erected in the rear of the Central Public School House [illegible] by using shavings staves tar &c was effectually extinguished with one machine in a short time that the second experiment of a fire in the inside of the building made by using shavings, kerosene, staves and dry stuff, was also promptly extinguished by the use of one machine in less than three minutes The third experiment was left to the control of the Fire Department under the direction of the Chief Engineer and the building was fired inside and outside and when the fire was well under way the Chief Engineer gave the order to "extinguish," and the fire was effectually put out in about six minutes. A brisk breeze was blowing at the time, and we pronounce the experiment successful and satisfactory We are satisfied that the EXTINGUISHER is very valuable for what it claims namely the prompt extinguishment of fires in their earlier stages and being portable self acting and always ready at a moment's notice would if generally introduced save much valuable property from destruction and we regard it as a valuable auxiliary to the Fire Department They are indispensable in those localities where no steam or other fire engine is in use, and we recommend their use generally in dwellings, stores, hotels, and public buildings.

P D MOORE Esq —Sir I have just returned from witnessing the operations of your "Extinguisher," or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine and confess I was both surprised and highly pleased with its success

I have no doubt whatever of its efficiency and adaptation to putting out fires in their earlier stages however combustible the materials may be that are burning. Its action on a flame is really magical They should be in every house of any value or which contains valuable property, as well as on board of vessels No one can estimate the additional security they give to both life and property You will please furnish me two of the No 2 size immediately for the Alaska as I sail for Honolulu to-morrow morning Very respectfully,
